Lesson Two: After the flood, God commanded mankind to be fruitful and multiply and fill the earth. Disregarding these instructions, one of Ham's descendants, Nimrod, began the city of Shinar (also known as Babylon). The people of Shinar tried to build a tower to heaven in order to make a name for themselves. At that time, all of the people on earth spoke the same language. In order to put an end to this evil tower, God simply confused the language, so the people could not understand one another.

The lineage of Abram can be traced to another of Noah's sons, Shem. We begin today in Genesis 11:26:
